“In this shingle-style cottage overlooking a popular Boothbay waterway, I brought a vintage vibe to the interiors with a timeless fieldstone fireplace, green painted wood floors, and Douglas Fir ceilings stained to appear as though they have been there for generations. Custom-painted mahogany wooden screen doors bring the outdoors in and offer a familiar summertime sound when they close. Period chairs and fabrics support the theme and create a warm and inviting living space. It truly feels as though this cottage has been here for more than 100 years and brought back to life for a family to enjoy.”
